

RSM UK Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement – 2025

We<sup>1</sup> recognise as a firm that slavery and human trafficking (modern slavery) is a serious issue within our society. We are committed to acting ethically and with integrity in our business dealing and relationships and to the fair and humane treatment of people both in our business and in our supply chains.

We are a leading provider of audit, tax and consulting services throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland, and a member of the RSM network<sup>2</sup>. Both countries in which we primarily operate are lower risk jurisdictions where slavery and human trafficking is prohibited and criminalised by law. Our services are provided via separate companies and limited liability partnerships within our group, most of which are externally regulated and subject to substantial independent oversight.

Our suppliers include office supplies and services, IT and software services, professional services such as recruitment, legal and insurance, and travel agents and hotels.

The majority of this statement covers our business in the United Kingdom. The section headed 'RSM Ireland' below separately covers our business in Ireland, which for context represents under 4% of our business by revenue.

This statement sets out the steps that we have taken in respect of the financial year ended 31 March 2025 to contribute towards ensuring that modern slavery is not taking place in any of our supply chains or in any part of our own business.

- 1. Values - Our Conduct and Culture Statement aims to ensure that our people<sup>3</sup> uphold our values and ethical standards and comply with professional regulations and applicable laws. We are a participant in the UN Global Compact, committing us to ensuring that our policies and values align with the ten principles of the UN Global Compact with respect to human rights, labour, environment and anti-corruption.
  - 2. Training - We run a substantial training programme, including materials covering how to recognise indicators of modern slavery in day-to-day work (with a focus on the NCA's guidance for the accountancy sector), as well as how to report any concerns. This training is incorporated as part of wider training on 'reporting suspicions' covering modern slavery, anti-bribery and anti-money laundering, to maximise effectiveness. It is given to all new joiners and is periodically made mandatory for all our people as refresher training (with the latest roll-out having taken place in September 2025).
  - 3. Our workforce - The majority of our people have professional qualifications and are members of professional bodies. All our employees have formal employment contracts (which they can terminate). We are accredited by the Real Living Wage Foundation in the UK as a 'Living Wage Employer'. We aim to provide a safe and supportive working environment, including through our network of over 130 wellbeing ambassadors and a variety of employee wellbeing initiatives.
  - 4. Recruitment - We take a robust approach to recruitment, including conducting 'eligibility to work' checks for all employees. We only use reputable recruitment agencies, all of whom have had to confirm that they will not engage in any practice that would be considered modern slavery under UK law.

5. Our suppliers - We take a number of steps in relation to our suppliers:

- a. As part of our 'Living Wage Employer' accreditation, we ensure that our suppliers who provide on-site services in our UK offices pay their employees the Real Living Wage.
- b. Our people have responsibility to make sure that expenses are only incurred with reputable suppliers who engage in ethical business practices.
- c. Our Supplier Code of Conduct sets out our expectations of our suppliers in several areas including modern slavery, and has been made available on our website. We have been engaging with our suppliers about this in two ways. Firstly, starting from May 2025, we have formally incorporated our Code into our supplier onboarding process. New suppliers must either (i) confirm that they accept our Code, or (ii) have given other assurances (such as issuing their own public code of conduct) that materially meet the standard expected by our own Code. Secondly, as a separate exercise, over the course of 2024 and 2025 we engaged with our largest existing suppliers at that time, asking each of them to either accept our Code or provide such alternative assurances.

6. Raising concerns - We operate a Speak Up policy and platform (with an accompanying training programme), which enables our people to raise concerns in relation to unethical behaviour or improper conduct (and modern slavery is explicitly identified in this context). Our people are openly encouraged to report any concerns about modern slavery, including any involving clients or suppliers.

RSM Ireland

RSM Ireland has a separate Values Statement, with which our people in Ireland must comply, which emphasises respect, integrity and acting responsibly<sup>4</sup>. RSM Ireland is a separate participant in the UN Global Compact. The majority of our people in Ireland have professional qualifications and are members of professional bodies. They all have formal employment contracts (which they can terminate), and are all paid above the Irish minimum wage, as well as receiving other fixed and flexible benefits. RSM Ireland also operates a whistleblowing policy for our people in Ireland to raise concerns in relation to unethical behaviour or improper conduct.

We continue to assess the risk of slavery and human trafficking in our own business and our supply chain and will publish a further statement following the current financial year (ending 31 March 2026).

This group statement constitutes RSM UK's slavery and human trafficking statement in respect of the financial year ended 31 March 2025.
